& COMPANY, INC.

Specified Medical Professional Liability Insurance

Medical advances and a broadening spectrum of healthcare providers have created a new world of professional liability exposures. As a result, opportunity can turn to liability in a heartbeat.

The Problem

Securing quality professional liability insurance for allied healthcare professionals and organizations.

The Risk

Expensive and professionally damaging lawsuits against allied healthcare providers.

The Solution

Specified Medical Professional Liability Insurance for allied healthcare professional and organizations offered through Shand Morahan & Co., Inc.

Steadily rising costs have meant big changes in the healthcare industry, and cost containment has become a primary concern. Consequently, more services are being provided outside of a hospital setting and/or by non-physician practitioners, increasing the type and number of jobs available in the healthcare sector. The rapidly growing medical opportunities include a wide range of disciplines, including nurse practitioners, physicians' assistants, laboratories, nurse anesthetists, imaging centers, surgi-centers, miscellaneous specialty clinics, practitioners of alternative or complementary modalities and many more.

But greater opportunity means a higher risk of liability, and allied healthcare professionals and organizations need to protect themselves against increasing exposures with good quality professional liability insurance.
